

Michigan Congressmen Lose Move To Aid Copper Mines

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Most Michigan congressmen expressed deep disappointment today at the defeat of the $80,000,000-a-year metal mines subsidy bill.

They had supported the measure on the theory it would do much to rescue the state's copper industry from the doldrums.

Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.), whose Upper Peninsula district includes most of the Michigan mines, said: "After having worked so hard on this legislation during the past year and a half, I am bitterly disappointed at the house vote."

"It is simply a case of economy-minded congressmen wanting to curtail on expenditures for the conservation of natural resources within our country in favor of supporting the uneconomic administrations of foreign governments all over the world."

The bill was beaten late yesterday 166 to 144. The Republican house leadership fought it hard and a number of administration Democrats also voted "no."

However, seven of the nine Michigan Republicans present voted "aye." These were Bennett, Woodruff, Engel, Blackney, Potter, Crawford and Wolcott. They were joined by two Democrats, Lesinski and O'Brien.

Two G. O. P. congressmen, Ford and Hoffman, voted against the measure. The other six Michigan members were absent.

Ford said he opposed the bill because it did not meet the economy test to which he is trying to put all legislation at this session.

Bennett has made the mineral aid bill a major project at the last four sessions of congress.

He said, "We still have one final means of helping to save the copper industry by reinstating the tariff protection when the present suspension expires on June 30th of this year. I shall continue to devote my efforts towards that end."

A tariff rate of 2 cents a pound on copper will be reinstated if the suspension is permitted to expire.

Bennett told the house in argument for the bill that it would help preserve the copper stocks of Upper Michigan for national defense.

"Under present economic circumstances, it is questionable as to how long the Michigan copper district can survive," he asserted. "No mining district can long survive without exploration and development work."

Engel told the house that the Upper Peninsula had one of the highest unemployment rates in the United States—39.2 per cent last fall.

"It is much cheaper to pay a subsidy of a few cents a pound on copper and keep these men employed than it is to support them on relief," he said.

Impulse Killer Doomed To Die

By RAYMOND J. PETERSON
LANCASTER, Pa., (AP)—A sobbing Franklin and Marshall college student was marked last night for death in the electric chair in the "impulse" slaying of Marian Louise Baker.

A jury of seven men and five women found dark-haired Edward Lester Gibbs, 25-year-old senior from Pitman, N. J., guilty of first degree murder with the death penalty mandatory.

The verdict came after the jurors had deliberated four hours and 45 minutes.

Gibbs steadfastly maintained throughout his four-day trial that he killed the pretty 21-year-old F&M secretary "on an impulse" after they drove to a "petters hangout" near here last Jan. 10.

The verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree with the death penalty marked the first such finding by a Lancaster county jury. Several death sentences, however, have been imposed by judges in this county, heavily populated by members of the Amish and Mennonite faiths—both opposed to capital punishment.

The stage for a tense courtroom drama was set yesterday as:

1. Miss Bergman's attorney, Gregson Bautzer, said the actress will be a witness when the case comes to trial, will leave Italy as soon as the trial date is set, and "is determined to make the fight of her life for Pia."

2. Dr. Lindstrom, the quiet brain surgeon, finally came out swinging with an announcement, through counsel, that he will charge Ingrid is unfit to have custody of the child.

Moreover, the Swedish doctor will counter with a demand for a divorce here.

His attorney, Isaac Pach, termed the Mexican divorce which Miss Bergman obtained Feb. 9 "a complete nullity—Mexico having jurisdiction over neither Miss Bergman nor Dr. Lindstrom."

Pach said Dr. Lindstrom was ready to give a complete accounting of community property as requested in his wife's suit and would demand "an equitable distribution among husband and wife and the daughter."

The actress also was faced with the possibility of having to battle to re-enter the country. In Washington, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) put a letter in the Senate record saying neither Miss Bergman or Rossellini should be permitted to enter the U. S.

Allies Shelve German Peace Treaty Talks

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
WASHINGTON, (AP)—The western Allies have decided to shelve for the time being a proposal to end the formal state of war with Germany.

Diplomatic officials said today that the U. S., Britain and France agreed that termination action would threaten a tangle of legal complications—particularly for this country—which the three occupation powers are unprepared to tackle now.

Accordingly, a meeting of legal experts at London has been called off. Further active consideration of the idea has been postponed until a forthcoming spring meeting of the Big Three western foreign ministers.

The proposal has been under study since it was advanced by Britain at the Paris Big Three meeting last fall.

The decision to put off action was reached in a recent informal exchange of views among the three powers.

State and justice department officials decided a declaration formally ending the war would mean that Congress would have to concur and also revise or enact a mass of domestic legislation.

More than 200 statutes are still based on the continued existence of a state of war and will be automatically repealed when Congress votes the conflict is legally at an end.

Included are the rent control act, trading with the enemy act, and a wartime reorganization of the army.

Officials said British and French complications were somewhat less difficult but there was general agreement that further study was needed.

Ingrid Coming Back To U. S. A.
LOS ANGELES — (AP)—Ingrid Bergman is coming back to the United States and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, is preparing to meet her headon in the fight for custody of their 12-year-old daughter Pia.

New York Irish On Parade Today; 100,000 March

NEW YORK, (AP)—Flanagans, Hannigans, O'Tooles and O'Flynnns . . . The boys from Cork, Kerry, Dublin and Limerick will swing up Fifth Avenue today in the world's largest St. Patrick's Day parade.

Murphys, Kellys, Sullivans and O'Briens . . . translated Irish from Gaelic-speaking fishing villages, from mountain cottages, from Dublin's fair city will march proudly past St. Patrick's Cathedral in honor of their beloved saint.

Raffertys, Muldoons, Hogans and Morans . . . They and their dark-eyed collies will get the day's festivities started when the two-and-one-half mile march gets under way at noon.

It will last at least five hours, and if the marchers were all in one line it would stretch over 15 miles—more than the length of Manhattan Island itself.

Always the world's biggest parade on the saint's day, this year it is the "biggest ever"—expected to surpass even New York's previous efforts.

There are more Irish in New York City than in Dublin. A good share of them will be on hand.

The weather prediction for the slow-rolling green wave was fair with brisk winds to lift the banners.

But the weather doesn't really count. This is one parade that always marches—come rain or drought, scorching sun or drifting snow.

In addition to the 100,000 marchers, about a million other persons will watch from the sidewalks and the windows towering above the street. To hold the crowd in check, almost 4,000 policemen were assigned to the march route, which starts at 44th street and ends abreast of Central Park at 94th street.

As always, there are two main reviewing stands.

One, on the steps of the St. Patrick's cathedral, recognizes the religious meaning of the day honoring the Ireland who brought Christianity to Ireland 1,500 years ago.

Catholic clergy will be on the cathedral steps—although one familiar face will be missing. Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, is absent on his holy year pilgrimage to Rome.

The other reviewing stand is at 64th street, where civil authorities take the salute. Here Irish-born Mayor William O'Dwyer and New York State's lieutenant governor, Joe R. Hanley, will stand.

Another familiar face will be missing here, too. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, recovering from a shoulder operation, planned to attend but was forbidden by doctor's orders.

The parade will march under a Papal blessing sent from Rome.

Acheson Lists Ways To Ease World Tension

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—China, Russia and the American people were "on notice" today from Secretary of State Acheson of specific things to be done in relieving world tensions.

Flying back to Washington after a two-day series of west coast speeches, he left as highlights of his visit:

1. Notice to Communist China not to foment trouble outside its borders.

2. Notice to Russia there are seven great points of difference with the non-Communist world that must be reconciled if there is to be "reasonable security."

3. Notice to the American people that "foreign policy is not speeches, not acts of Congress but acts of yours."

His "notice" to the American people was the latest of the three, given in a chatty, informal talk to a meeting of northern California's World Affairs Council at the Palace hotel in San Francisco.

"The world listens to our government but also it sees our coal strike," he said.

"It hears what we say over the radio. It reads what is written in the press. It watches the attitude of our church groups. It knows the views of our labor leaders."

Quit Being Sucker
Earlier at Berkeley, he outlined the seven-point differences with Russia in a major address to a conference called by the University of California to explore problems of raising economic standards around the world.

Stating firmly the United States refuses to be an "international sucker" and holding out little hope Russia would comply, Acheson listed these things which Russia could do:

1. Work with the west to achieve peace treaties for Germany, Japan and Austria that do not turn them into Soviet satellites.

2. Stop using or threatening force against existing satellites; allow them to be countries in their own right.

3. Cease obstruction tactics in the United Nations.

4. Join in "realistic and effective" controls for atomic weapons and general arms limitations.

5. Stop treating through diplomats as "sinister" and "criminals."

6. Let Russian people know what goes on outside Russia.

7. Let Russian people know what goes on outside Russia.

Circuit Judge John Simpson of Jackson, who sentenced them more than three years ago, intervened in their parole. He said it was "unreasonable" to punish them more severely than three other defendants released early because of illness.

The two were indicted by the state grand jury in 1945. They appealed their lower court convictions to the state supreme court, where the prison terms were upheld.

Beaver Island Settlers Curse Sea Lampreys

ST. JAMES, BEAVER ISLAND, Mich. — (AP) — The Irish folk of Michigan's "Emerald Isle" went out after a new kind of snake on this St. Patrick's day.

The residents of Beaver Island used the occasion of the Celtic celebration to throw a curse at the sea lamprey, which is ruining their fishing.

"Oh, if only St. Patrick could come back now," sighed James Gallagher, an old time commercial fisherman. "He wouldn't bother about snakes. He would drive the eels from Lake Michigan."

The eel-like lampreys, have made serious inroads on the slim economy of this isolated Lake Michigan island.

"Once," said Gallagher, "the nets would all but break from the weight of the lake trout and whitefish we hauled up."

"The other day, though, Mike Cull and his boys set out a string of nets—seven in all—and when they lifted a few days later there were five whitefish in them. Just five."

Accordingly, the Irishmen of St. James went to Holy Cross church at 8 a. m. today and prayed for, among other things, a riddance from the sea lampreys.

Later on, they prepared to celebrate their big day of the year with Irish jigging, Irish airs and a series of vaudeville acts staged by Beaver Island's theatrical group.

Potato Marketing, Price Support Discussed; Few Growers At U. P. Meeting

About 30 Upper Peninsula potato growers, mostly members of AAA committees in their counties, met in Escanaba yesterday to nominate a U. P. member to the North Central Potato Committee and discuss proposed amendments to Marketing Order No. 60.

Either disinterest or antagonism to the potato marketing program kept representation of U. P. spud growers down to a handful. Critics have called the marketing program "unworkable."

Federal marketing Order No. 60 requires that all potatoes be federal-state inspected prior to shipment, and prohibits the shipment of potatoes lower in quality than U. S. commercial grade, one and seven-eighths inches minimum in size.

Nominate Members
The North Central Potato committee administers the marketing order and regulates the shipment of potatoes in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota. Each of the four states is represented on the committee by four persons, three potato producers and one potato handler.

At the U. P. meeting of producers here yesterday in the court house, two members and two alternates were nominated to serve on the North Central Potato committee. The secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture selects from the list of nominees the members who will serve.

Nominated here for the Michigan member from the U. P. were Matt Purri of Atlantic Mine, the incumbent, and Arvid Bergdahl; alternates nominated were George Nygaard and Fabian Steinbrecker.

The potato handler representative on the committee is Fred P. Hibst of Cadillac, who was in Escanaba for the meeting.

Of Price Supports
The meeting here, one of a series in the four states, was conducted by R. M. Kennedy, Minneapolis, manager-treasurer of the North Central Potato committee.

Ed Gallahue, Washington, D. C., of the potato division, U. S. department of agriculture; R. E. Keller, Chicago, fruit and vegetable branch of the department; Victor Ekstrom, his assistant; and Howard Edwards, field representative of the North Central Potato committee, were in the group attending the meetings.

Warren Hubbard, Stephenson, district chairman of the PMA, introduced the visitors.

As the meeting progressed and discussion turned to government support price on potatoes, there was some grumbling over the lower subsidy payments proposed for the 1950 crop. The average price support will be about $1.01 per 100 pounds, about 9 cents less than last year.

Up to $1.90 per cwt.
Gallahue told the growers that the present plan for support price payments for US No. 1's call for a schedule starting at $1.45 per cwt. in September and October of this year, and going up to a maximum of $1.90 in March of 1951.

For B grade spuds the support price to be paid by the government will be $1 for the entire season, Gallahue said. Out of this $1 the government will deduct 57 cents charge for sacking and handling, leaving the grower 43 cents per cwt. The B grade potatoes are those not marketable.

One grower commented:

"Sounds like price support will mean we owe the government, instead of getting something."

Said Gallahue: "Keep in mind that there is the possibility you may have no price support at all—and I'm not saying that facetiously. You should all know that things are happening these days in Washington."

Marketing Problems
The North Central Potato committee marketing agreement under Marketing Order No. 60 also came in for some criticism by the growers, and Gallahue outlined proposed amendments, or "refinements," as he termed them.

Hearings on these amendments will be held in April in the four states comprising the North Central area. Gallahue said it was possible that Indiana and Iowa want to come into the North Central area marketing committee.

The committee regulates grading and marketing over a certain period. It is this agreement that critics say is "unworkable" and generally disregarded.

Despite the marketing agreement, the government price support program in past years resulted in the government purchase of top grade potatoes, while handlers scoured their areas to obtain the best they could get for the consumer market.

Government-purchased top grade spuds went to alcohol processing plants, to institutions, and back to the farmers for stock feed. Farmers can repurchase from the government at 1 cent per hundred pounds potatoes that have been doused with dye and can be used only for feeding farm stock.

William Roman, who also objected to information presented at a meeting.

Leslie LeDuc, Old State road, who requested information concerning building on the south side of his property, on the north end of the airport.

Myron Legg, who asked that uniforms for band members be considered before a band shell.

John Novack, whose appearance before the council was requested by Nevin Reynolds, following charges of corruption entered by Novack.

Jack J. Koernke, safety director, who told the council a blanket apology from Novack was not sufficient and that Novack should personally apologize to Nels Bergeon, fire department captain.

Council Makes 6 Appointments

City Commission Members Named

Three members each were appointed to the city recreation and planning commissions last night by the Escanaba city council.

Mrs. John Fawcett, Mrs. Ivor Barber and Mrs. Roy Swanson were named to serve on the recreation commission. The terms of Mrs. A. M. Gilbert and Mrs. E. H. Niederauer, expired and one vacancy had not been filled for some time.

On the planning commission, the council re-appointed the three men whose terms were expiring. These are Claude Tobin, Grover Lewis and Alex St. Cyr.

New appointees to the recreation commission will work with Ken Gunderman, chairman; Rev. Fr. Martin B. Melican, Rev. James Bell, James Rouman, John Edick, John Bartels, Dr. N. L. Lindquist, Eldridge Baker and Sam Wickman.

The planning commission, in addition to the new members is composed of John Bartlett, chairman, O. V. Thatcher, John Bartella, Charles Gessner, E. H. Niedermaier, Dale Vinette and Mayor Robert LeMire and City Manager A. V. Aronson, ex-officio members.

Appointments to the planning commission were for three years and to the recreation commission for four-year terms.

Bathhouse Plans Contract Okayed

Architects Will Get 7% Fee Here

The Escanaba city council last night authorized the city clerk and the mayor to execute contracts with architects to draw plans for the proposed Escanaba bathhouse.

A. V. Aronson, city manager, reported to the council that plans and specifications will be completed by the end of this month, and work will probably begin next month. The city will advertise for bids on the bathhouse after plans and specifications have been completed.

The sum of $25,000 has been set up in the city budget for construction of the bathhouse. Previously the council advertised for bids, but delayed the project until the planning commission had approved plans.

Perkins and Will, architects of Chicago, who have been retained by the Escanaba school board for the school building program, will help plan the bathhouse so that it conforms with other civic buildings in the city. The Perkins and Will firm will receive one percent of the total or $250.

Plans and specifications are being drawn by Wally Arntzen and his father, Gothard Arntzen, a registered architect. The plans will be signed by Perkins and Will and approved by them.

Normally on small jobs such as the bathhouse, an architect's fee will be as much as 10 percent of the construction cost, the city manager reported at the council meeting. Perkins and Will have agreed to accept one percent and the Arntzens six percent, thus splitting an already low fee, Aronson explained to the council.

Began As 'Smart Aleck' Drinker In High School, Speaker Tells AA Group

Out of the depths of alcoholism that began as a "smart aleck" drinker in high school he made his way back to sobriety, self-respect and happiness.

Briefly this is the story told last night in Escanaba by the speaker to a group of more than 150 members of Alcoholics Anonymous from eight Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin cities. The

Livestock Sale Hits New High

422 Animals Sold Here This Week

A new high in the movement of animals at the Cleveland Livestock Auction yards at Escanaba was recorded here Wednesday, it was reported today by W. F. McDonald, Pickford, president.

Animals sold totaled 422, including 360 calves, 41 cows and heifers, 10 bulls, 8 hogs and 3 horses.

Top veal calves sold at 30 cents per pound and were purchased by Felix Johnson of Danforth.

A steady gain in sales volume has been noted in recent months, according to McDonald, with more receipts from the Upper Peninsula area.

Bidders, largely representatives of packing firms, come from as far distant as Green Bay, Menominee and Marquette.

meeting was sponsored by the Delta AA group, which has grown from a membership of 3 to 43 within less than a year.

The speaker came from a Wisconsin city, but he is no stranger to Escanaba.

"In fact, before I got in with AA five years ago, I spent some of my most desperately lonely hours in Escanaba bars," said the speaker. "There is no place an alcoholic can feel more alone than in a crowded bar, with the music box playing."

Thought It Smart
His talk brought alternate laughter and a thoughtfulness close to tears to the other AA members, and to the few understanding guests—members of the clergy and law enforcement officers—who attended the meeting.

His story was one of personal experience. "I began as a smart aleck drinker in high school. Two drinks and I would act like I was drunk. I thought I was smart."

Drinking became a habit, then a necessity—or so he thought. "I got so I was drinking my meals instead of eating them." Drinking became a problem for himself, his family, and his business.

"I was a stubborn drinker. I had to nearly lose everything before I changed. Nine drunken automobile accidents broke nearly every bone in my body."

It And But Society
The speaker is a big man. He walks with a limp because one leg is shorter than the other. The bones were badly fractured in one of those nine "drunken automobile accidents."

"Before the AA helped straighten me out I was a member of the IF and But Society. People said I would be a wonderful guy—if you could keep him sober, but you can't."

"I could take it or leave it alone—but I always took it."

Things went from bad to worse, he said. He was a "compulsive drinker," an alcoholic who could not take one or two drinks as other people might.

"People said I should try a different brand of whisky, or stick to beer, or taper off. They all ended the same way. I was a drunk who sobered up remorsefully—and then got drunk to forget the remorse."

Faith in Self and God
His experience proved, he declared, there is no such thing as a little bit of drinking in alcoholism.

"Alcoholism is like pregnancy—you can't have just a little bit of it."

He was a sick man, a confirmed alcoholic, and he needed help. He got it from Alcoholics Anonymous five years ago and today he is one of the most conscientious AA workers, doing what he can to help others. Through AA and with the help of God "I have restored my faith in myself and there is not one shred of bitterness in my heart toward any one." He prays each morning for strength, and each night thanks God for helping him.

"Through the twelve steps of AA we learn to stay close to God and to each other—we have become our brother's keeper."

'No Corruption,' Council Finds

Garage, Fire Hall Reports Received

City Manager A. V. Aronson, Jack J. Koernke, safety director, and Loren W. Jenkins, city engineer, reported on activities in the city garage and fire station, at the regular council meeting last night, and satisfied the council that reports of corruption in use of city equipment and labor were unfounded.

The council had ordered the city manager to make an investigation following charges presented at the council meeting two weeks ago by John Novack of Escanaba. Novack had declared he saw the city fire department coupe in Stephenson on Feb. 19, and that city equipment and city labor were being used for personal gain.

Minor Privileges
In his report to the council, A. V. Aronson, city manager, declared that employees are given certain privileges but these are minor items amounting to only a few cents a day.

"It is worth $5 to $10 a day in good morale, and is common practice in private industry," the manager stated.

He recommended that the council refer the matter of policy on privileges for employees to the Civil Service commission.

The council accepted the manager's report and his recommendation that the Civil Service commission be consulted before a policy is formulated.

The city engineer, Loren Jenkins, told the council that employer-employee relations is one of the city's biggest problems, just as it is throughout the nation.

"Productivity fluctuates with good morale. I have made every effort to keep up morale of employees in the city garage, but must admit that at times it is not always what it should be," Jenkins stated.

The city engineer reported to the council that because some men have experienced financial difficulty and have large families, he has had 23 of the 60 or more under his supervision work for him after hours.

"All of these but one, John DeChantal had been paid at the time of the last council meeting," Jenkins reported.

The engineer stated he pays them an hourly rate which is higher than their regular pay and indicated the work is voluntary on the part of employees.

"No councilmen, city officials or department heads had their cars parked in the city garage," Jenkins reported.

City employees, he said, do charge their batteries at the city garage but it is a minor cost to the city.

"City equipment used by employees is available to any taxpayer and an employee must pay the same rental fee as a citizen," the engineer reported. He cited instances where city equipment is used to remove trees, haul debris following remodeling and empty flooded basements for any taxpayer, at a prescribed rental fee. These services are not regularly rendered by the city, but when taxpayers can not get other equipment the city assists them," Jenkins reported. City equipment is always taken out by the regular driver and is always under city supervision when used, it was stated last night.

Use Own Tools
The city engineer reported that many city employees keep their own tools at the garage and allow the city to use them, without charge. Jenkins said considerable equipment such as scales, a plumb box and other material he owns is used by men in his department nearly every day for city work.

"I have never asked the city to pay me rent on the equipment," he stated.

A burst of applause from the packed councilroom followed Jenkins' report to the council.

Jack J. Koernke, director of public safety, presented a series of letters from Capt. Nels Bergeon of the fire department, three city firemen, Ronald Baldwin of this city and Fire Chief William L. Spoor of Menominee. Chief Spoor advised Koernke in his letter to the safety director that "the car seen at Stephenson on Feb. 19 must have been the Menominee fire coupe for at that time I was returning from a meeting in Hancock."

Mayor Backs Employees
Nels Bergeon submitted a detailed report of the whereabouts of the Escanaba fire chief's coupe for Feb. 19 and 20. At the hour the coupe was to have been in Stephenson, the car was in the city fire hall. Bergeon's report was verified by Firemen Van-Enkevort, Kositzke, Newman and Nelson. Ronald Baldwin stated in his letter to the safety director that on Feb. 19 the Escanaba Philatelic society met, and that he saw the chief's coupe in the fire hall.

Speaking for the council, Mayor LeMire said he was satisfied that reports of corruption and misuse of labor and equipment were not true. He spoke out against the unfortunate aspects of the situation.

"Many persons heard the broadcast in which John Novack said he was positive and could prove his charges about use of the fire coupe, city equipment and labor. Those people may not hear this broadcast and will be left with the impression that such situations exist," LeMire declared.

Mayor LeMire reported he made an investigation himself and was satisfied that corruption charges placed by Novack concerning the city garage and city administration were not founded.

"The same services offered to employees are offered to any taxpayer and all pay the same rental rates," LeMire explained. He also pointed out that employees allow the city to use their own tools on many occasions and do not ask for compensation for this service.

Will Establish Policy
The council voted unanimously to refer the matter of policy on privileges to the Civil Service commission for recommendation and study.

During the personal complaint section of the council meeting John Novack offered his apologies to persons he may have hurt with the accusations. He stated he had other complaints to make and asked that the council call the city engineer forward so he could ask him some questions.

A. V. Aronson, city manager, interceded and stated that, as city manager, department heads are under his jurisdiction. He asked the council:

"Is this a court?"
"This whole situation has reflected on every city employee and they have been judged guilty. In courts, a citizen is innocent until proven guilty."

Declines Novack's Request
The council declined to grant Novack's request and advised him to put his complaints or charges, along with proof, in writing, and submit the signed statement to the Civil Service commission.

"The commission," Mayor LeMire pointed out, "is as interested as you are in good government, and will investigate your reports. The members of the Civil Service commission are not city employees and will give you a fair report," he added.

"I can assure you," Mayor LeMire continued, "that every member of the council is against any corruption in the city and will not tolerate it. If any regulations are reported violated, something will be done about it. But those reports will have to be in writing and submitted to the Civil Service commission," he explained.

Councilman Reynolds declared that the city council should insist in the future that complaints be submitted in writing, and that "this needless attack on defenseless people be stopped."

"City employees," Reynolds said, "have to have a good sense of humor or they wouldn't retain their sanity. They have a certain dignity beyond which their sense of humor does not carry."

MYSTERY DEATHS—Glenn Price, Chatham conservation officer, holds the frozen bodies of five squirrels he believes are starvation casualties. They were found together in a hollow tree near Deerton.

Squirrels' Mass Deaths, Migrations Go Unsolved

It was unbelievable, incredible and astounding, reported early-day Michigan settlers who watched a half-million squirrels moving southeasterly in a mass migration.

The big gray squirrels moved slowly but relentlessly on, swimming rivers, swarming across buildings, eating grain and corn in the fields. Farmers regarded them as a plague and killed them by the thousands with clubs and stones.

These migrations were believed to have been the result of overpopulation and were observed particularly among the gray squirrels.

Found Dead in Tree
Today the riddle of the squirrel migrations has been largely forgotten, but game biologists of the Michigan conservation department have another "squirrel puzzle" confronting them.

This time it is mass deaths, perhaps because starvation, the result of overpopulation. The deaths occur in the wintertime when food is scarce.

An example of this mass death was found Friday south of Deerton by two woodsmen, John Lepanen and John Kangas, while cutting for Nick Sigan. Packed in a small hollow in one of the felled trees were the bodies of five large gray squirrels, huddled together—dead.

Nuts Were Scarce
"It might be starvation," said Conservation Officer Glenn Price.

Beaver License Sales Booming

Deadline On Permits 5 P. M. March 25

The sale of beaver trapping licenses appears to be booming in the Upper Peninsula, if the sales at district conservation headquarters in Escanaba is an indication. Thirty licenses have been sold here and additional sales are being made at the Gwinn and Marquette offices, it was announced today.

Deadline for obtaining beaver trapping permits is 5 p. m. (EST) March 25.

The season will open in the Upper Peninsula on March 25, and below the Straits on March 20. In 1945, last state-wide open season, a total of 15,296 beaver and 349 otter were taken.

The seasons this year will end April 9 in the U. P. and March 31 in Lower Michigan. Open and closing time in both cases is 12 noon, EST.

A warmer weather combination which does not soften roads enough to make them impassable but at the same time favors trap setting, could mean a take approaching the 1945 record, allows D. H. Jenkins, mammalogist for the department's game division. Jenkins notes that the beaver population is up above the Straits where roughly 70 per cent of the animals are caught. However, he says, the Lower Peninsula crop is somewhat smaller this year. Division records show 4,126 beaver and 157 otter trapped in the Lower Peninsula last season.

Regulations prescribe a bag limit of two otter, above or below the Straits, but six beaver in the Upper Peninsula and three beaver in the Lower Peninsula. Licensees can use a maximum of 15 traps.

Closed to beaver and otter trapping are certain specified areas, wildlife refuges and sanctuaries, and other areas previously off limits.

Hyde Extension Club Meets To Study Patterns

The Hyde Home Extension club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Donahue for a lesson on pattern alterations. Mrs. Nels Ebbesen instructed.

Mrs. Alvin Schabow and Mrs. August Severinsen were chosen project leaders for the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Schabow on April 19.

Delicious lunch was served last night by Mrs. Richard Donahue.

Perkins Variety Show

April 3 Election Is Important One

In addition to the election of two councilmen for four years in the April 3 municipal election here, Escanaba voters will pass upon a proposal to bond the city for $700,000 to finance construction of a new water filtration plant.

The election is an extremely important one to Escanaba. The two councilmen to be elected will play a leading role in determining the trend of city government for the next four years. Many extremely important decisions affecting the welfare of the community and its citizens will necessarily be made during that period.

The water bond question to be voted upon in the April 3 election is likewise a vital problem for Escanaba. The results of that election will determine whether the water problem will be solved here for the next two generations, or whether it will be simply postponed to arise again under more critical circumstances.

As we have pointed out time and again in the editorial pages of the Daily Press, the problem of providing an adequate, safe and wholly reliable source of water for the community is the most urgent problem that the city is confronted with today.

The voters can either approve the water bond proposal and proceed with construction of a modern filtration plant or they can reject the proposal and worry about the city's water supply. The latter course of action is dangerous and will never remedy the city's water situation.

Cancer Quackery Is On The Upswing

The great public interest being manifested throughout the country in cancer and cancer research, stimulated by educational programs by health societies and through newspapers, magazines and radio programs, is a powerful factor in spurring the search for cancer relief.

It has also, however, encouraged the development of cancer quackery. A number of such institutions have sprung up in various sections of the country, preying on the unfortunate victims of malignant growths.

The tragedy of this situation is that many patients are not only wasting their money at these quack clinics, but they are also forfeiting their chance for cures by wasting precious time. By the time they realize that they are not being helped through quackery, the malignant growths have developed beyond the point where surgery or X-ray can be successfully employed.

There are, of course, many reliable, good cancer clinics throughout the country, employing methods that are recognized by the medical scientists as the proper treatment for cancer in the light of present knowledge of the disease.

Ask your family physician for advice before associating with any cancer clinic. This precaution may not only save you a lot of money, but it may also save your life.

Consumers Would Pay Corporation Taxes

GOVERNOR WILLIAMS has again proposed to the Michigan legislature the enactment of a corporation profits tax as a means of raising more funds for the operation of state government. This time, however, the governor has sugar-coated the tax proposal by presenting it as a requirement not only for erasing the state's anticipated deficit but also for financing such projects as highway construction and the Straits of Mackinac bridge.

The obvious theory behind the proposal is that many residents of the state who may be opposed to a corporation profits tax in principle will go along with the tax program because of their desire for better roads and for the construction of the Straits bridge.

The governor's tax proposal is paradoxical. He told the legislature that Michigan consumers cannot stand any more taxes, a conclusion that coincides with the viewpoint of most residents of the state. Consequently, the governor argues, the increased taxes must come not from consumers but from corporations.

Corporations, however, get their money from people—consumers, if you please. Increased taxes assessed against corporations are invariably passed on to the consumers in the form of higher prices. They then become "hidden" taxes, of which there are already far too many on virtually everything sold and services performed.

The adding of another $100 millions or so per year on corporations by means of new taxes would assuredly be paid by the people who buy the products or the services of Michigan corporations. It is true that some of this would be paid by residents of other states, who purchase commodities manufactured in Michigan, but the effect of this would be to place Michigan industries at a competitive disadvantage. Inasmuch as virtually every city in Michigan is urgently seeking new industries and striving desperately to hold the industries they already have, it hardly seems consistent to add a new and heavy burden upon Michigan corporations.

Governor Williams contends that a corporation tax in Michigan is justified because most of the other states have such a tax. Many states do not, however, among them Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, New Jersey, Washington, Maine, Texas, New Hampshire, Delaware, Florida, Wyoming and Nebraska. Most of the states gaining revenue from corporation taxes likewise have no sales tax, such as Michigan does.

Governor Williams wants both—the sales tax and the corporate profits tax.

There Are No "Cheap" Wars

THE Bureau of Naval Personnel has issued an informative and attractive booklet called "An Officer's Career in the U. S. Navy." It is primarily addressed to young men and women who are interested in naval careers, and described the various ways commissions may be earned, the opportunities for advancement, the many types of duties to which naval officers may be assigned, and other kindred matters.

A naval career, for those whose bent lies in this direction, represents one of the highest forms of service to the nation. There are those who still argue that the airplane has made the other weapons and services virtually obsolete—that air power can secure the peace or, failing that, win another war swiftly and "cheaply." It is an appealing dream but no real authority holds to it. Control of the seas—and of the air above them and the depths below—is as vital as it was in Mahan's day. The character of ships and their weapons undergo great changes—for example, the aircraft carrier has become the ship-of-the-line rather than the dreadnaught, and the role of the submarine in both offense and defense has become enormously more important. But old principles remain intact. In the last war, it must not be forgotten, Germany and Japan finally foundered against the rock of seapower.

Indeed, it is both dangerous and absurd to attempt to aggrandize one service at the expense of another. In a sound military establishment, every service has a vital part to play as a member of a great team, and none is more or less important than the rest. We need land-based aviation. We need the ground forces. And we need naval power and its ship-based aviation. National security demands them all.

So many workers are using trickery to obtain payments of state unemployment insurance which they don't deserve that this abuse of a good system sorely needs checking. Governor Dewey of New York points out that it would be a help of the federal government allowed the states more money for the administration of this federal-state program. Insufficient financing, he declares, has encouraged dishonest claims. With a better-equipped staff the state could more effectively run down the cheaters.

Governor Dewey is right in urging more liberal allotments to the states to promote better all-around operation. The federal government taxes all employers of eight workers or more .3 per cent on their payroll up to $3,000 of covered wages, with a few exceptions such as agriculture and non-profit institutions. The federal tax produces the cash to pay the operating costs of the state systems—salaries, rents, etc. This tax brings in a larger amount than is sent back to many of the states.

Out of $31,000,000 collected in New York last year, only $21,000,000 was returned. The other $10,000,000 went into general government expenses. The administration of jobless insurance—payment of claims, placing of the unemployed entirely by the states. Employers have to pay in all and more than is required for good servicing of the unemployed. They and their workers and the public are entitled to see enough of their tax money used to enable this social insurance to run with full efficiency.

READERS WANT TO KNOW

Mrs. F. E. Y., of El Paso, wants an explanation of the apparently contradictory saying that the exception proves the rule.

This old saying does puzzle many people, and the explanation lies in the primary meaning of the word proof. The word proof comes from the Latin probare, meaning "to test"; therefore, the old adage merely means that the exception tests the rule. We all remember in school days how we proved an example in arithmetic, which was another way of saying that we tested it for correctness; and an author reads the proofs of his work so that it may be tested for typographical errors, or other mistakes. The exception tests the rule is the literal meaning of the old phrase.

Mrs. E. C. H., of St. Paul, does not understand why scissors are spoken of as a pair, and why the word is plural. Well, there are a number of such words in English which are always used in the plural sense, and the reason is quite logical. For example, a pair of scissors is a cutting instrument consisting of two blades working one upon the other. Likewise pliers, clippers, and pincers consist of two like objects fastened together with a movable joint. This also explains why trousers, overalls, breeches, jodhpurs, and the like, are always spoken of in the plural. A pair of trousers consists of two leg garments fastened to-

Dean Acheson May Be Ousted

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Some time ago it was stated in this space that there was no chance that the noisy campaign directed against Secretary of State Dean Acheson would drive him out of office. I believe that was true then. It is not true today.

Acheson is in a most curious position. What has happened is that administration support for him on Capitol Hill simply has not been forthcoming. There is a worried feeling that he will be a distinct handicap in the coming elections.

Influential Democratic senators put it this way. They say that Acheson deliberately climbed out on the Hiss limb with his statement that he would not turn his back on Alger Hiss. That made him a vulnerable target; so vulnerable that he cannot be defended by those who must themselves come before the voters in November.

One may reflect that this has certain implications in timidity and lack of stamina. But nevertheless it is a fact which inquiry on Capitol Hill quickly brings to light.

So these powerful Democrats are watching Acheson on his limb. If he should decide to hop off, they would feel greatly relieved. They are confident that if President Truman should name Averell Harriman, now director of ECA aid in Europe, as his successor, Harriman could be readily confirmed.

At the same time they know the president will not deliberately saw off the limb on which his secretary of state is sitting. The president has a fierce and almost primitive loyalty, particularly to any associate who is under fire. But the degree of warmth for Acheson within the administration itself has not been exactly torrid.

The Republican attack on Acheson continues on a number of levels. The national focus is here in Washington but it is also being prosecuted vigorously in the states.

Take Illinois as an example. Former Congressman Everett Dirksen is almost certain to be the Republican nominee opposing Senator Scott Lucas, majority leader in the senate. While it has received far less publicity, in some ways this contest ranks with that in Ohio where the re-election of Senator Robert A. Taft has been given No. 1 billing by the Republicans.

DIRKSEN CHANGES TUNE
Dirksen at one time professed to be a convert to international co-operation. On one occasion almost single-handedly he beat back an attempt to sabotage the ECA appropriation. But Dirksen has reverted to isolationism and embraced with almost embarrassing eagerness the Chicago Tribune line.

In speeches around the state day after day he is attacking Acheson for his friendship with Hiss and for what he charges is a pro-Communist bias in the conduct of foreign policy. Undoubtedly, this has contributed to the mail hostile to Acheson that is pouring into Lucas' office. Included in this mail are petitions bearing hundreds of signatures demanding the resignation or the impeachment of the secretary.

A good bit of this may be put down to carefully organized propaganda. The signers of such petitions are probably for the most part dyed-in-the-wool Republicans who never voted for any Democratic candidate and who abhor the fair deal and all its works.

Nevertheless, it is not hard to see how they would produce an uneasy feeling in a candidate facing a tough struggle. Though the Republicans were disastrously routed in 1948 in Illinois as the voters revolted against the antics of Governor Dwight Green in Springfield and Senator C. Wayland Brooks' isolationism in Washington, Lucas will not have an easy time of it.

ACHESON CARRIES ON
Whatever may be in his mind, Acheson is carrying on as though he had the most secure position possible. It is a tribute both to his conscientiousness and to his poise.

The speeches he is making on his present tour were very carefully drafted to emphasize the constructive and positive side of the state department's policy in Asia. In part at least they were intended as an answer to those critics who have said that the department's emphasis was wholly negative—on containing the further spread of Communism.

That somewhat old-fashioned phrase "a scholar and a gentleman" seems to me to apply with singular aptness to Acheson. He has the strength of a brilliant mind, seasoned character and adherence to a code of conduct that is sometimes at variance with the crude give and take of practical politics. This may see him through the present crisis even though there is a loud silence where he might expect at least the minimum of support.

As a matter of fact, trousers originally were long stockings, and in time they extended upward so as to cover the lower part of the trunk, and evolved into the present single garment.

San Diego: I've read so much of "beer and skittles." It sounds so appetizing that I'd like to cook some skittles for my husband. What are they, and where may I buy them?

Answer: Broiled, fried, or stewed, skittles would prove to be rugged fare for your husband. Skittles is an English game similar to ten pins. The game is played in a skittles alley, where the skittles are set up like the pins in a bowling alley.

"Beer and skittles" is a British expression equivalent to the American "life of Riley." It is expressive of an ideal existence in which one may drink and play (skittles) to one's heart's content. As Thomas Hughes wrote in Tom Brown's School-days: "Life isn't all beer and skittles; but beer and skittles, or something better of the same sort, must form a good part of every Englishman's education."

ECONOMY CARS—Several auto manufacturers are planning the production of "low-priced cars—something that will sell at between $1,000 and $1,500.

Of course, in the good old days, such prices would have meant a super job complete with side curtains and a thermometer on the radiator cap.

Times have changed, however, and $1,500 is a mere drop in the bucket compared to the annual take home pay of a coal miner. But the auto manufacturers are not planning to sell the new low-priced cars to the coal miners. For the miners are going to be busy for several months paying off the grocery bills incurred during the long vacation Mr. Lewis encouraged them to take.

TWO IN A FAMILY—There is the prospect that, aside from the coal miners, there will be a sufficient number of Americans to purchase one of the low-priced cars so they can have two cars for each family.

This will solve many problems that occur in the traditional "American way of life." Most families now agree that one car is not sufficient to meet their needs. Father wants a car to drive to work, Mother wants a car to carry her shopping and for social errands, and Junior wants a car occasionally (usually when the other members of the family want it) to take his best girl to a dance.

No, there are not enough cars to go around.

OR JUST ONE—Yet it was unusual to find a family with more than one auto, when father was a boy.

This one automobile was the pride and joy of the whole family. It was the means of bringing the family together, not causing its separation.

Come a Sunday afternoon the members of the family dressed in their best bib and tucker and "went for a spin." As Father called it. The family with a car was the envy of the neighborhood. Children stood at the side of the street to watch it pass and in the country farm boys and girls came running to the road as the auto went dusting along at the terrific speed of 35 miles an hour.

Usually the auto developed "motor trouble" before the tour was ended, requiring the help of a horse to tow it to the nearest blacksmith shop. The chagrin of the motorists under such a circumstance is imaginable.

"Yah, Get a horse! Get a horse!" called the children from the road-side as the horse-drawn auto went ingloriously homeward.

WINTER SEASON—Only the most hardy motorist ventured to drive his car in the winter. Usually it was "laced up." This described a condition known in the animal world as hibernation.

The auto was parked in the barn or stable, covered with canvas, jacked up off the floor with wood blocks supporting it, and left until springtime. Father went out occasionally during the winter to pull back the canvas and gaze on the sleeping beauty.

But it was not until years later that cars were operated the year around.

NEED IS HERE—The price of automobiles in particular has been an indicator of price levels in general. Which is another way of saying that the so-called "economy cars" soon to come on the market may indicate a general price lowering all along the line. Price reductions have already been announced by several auto manufacturers, indicating the trend.

It may be a gamble for those manufacturers who are this year entering the lowest-priced auto field. Perhaps the public is not yet ready for "economy cars."

We think it is ready and the price at least of pre-war models will be welcomed by the public. We are not talking about mid-range cars, but cars with ample head, seat, and leg room, minus the dispensable luxury of chrome, expensive decoration, and fripples that add nothing to performance.

The easy-money days of the post-war era are fading. The need for transportation is increasing. The logical answer is the lower-priced automobile.

BASIS OF SUCCESS—Mass production in the auto industry resulted in the low-priced car and made the U. S. the leading motorized nation of the world. There is as much need today for a low-priced car as there ever was. The field is highly competitive, and that is good for the consumer.

A half-century ago the emphasis was on more efficient and less costly transportation. The picture is unchanged in 1950.

Safety With Firearms

Dear Editor:

According to the number of hunting licenses issued in Michigan, at least one member of every family must own a shotgun. Due to the increased participation in the sport requiring the use of the smooth-bore gun, we anticipate a big year of competition. Our programs are designed so that the tyro, while probably not having much chance of winning the contest, has an equal opportunity with the expert of taking home the purse or a trophy in his or her class.

With the emphasis on safety in handling of firearms, we would like to call your attention to the fact that there is no better place to learn, not only how to shoot, but the fundamentals of safe gun handling, than at a properly conducted gun club. Any person who owns a gun and carries it afield, will increase his enjoyment of this sport a hundred fold, if he will shoot a few rounds of skeet periodically. He will, thereby, improve his gun pointing and become automatically and naturally a safe gun handler.

It has been noted time and time again, and remembered in our own case, that the new shooter, stepping up to the station for the first time, with butterflies in the tummy, boastfully stating to bolster his morale, "I have always killed my share of the game," but handling the gun as if it were going to fly to pieces in his hands. Then, after he has shot a few hundred rounds, watching the smooth manner in which he carries his gun to the station, loads it without dropping the shells or putting them in backwards, checks the piece as if he has been doing it all his life, calls for the bird and powders it before it is fifteen feet from the trap, never once waving the muzzle anyplace but where it should be.

We feel that we would not be too far off base for advocating the average sportsman obtaining a license to hunt with firearms, be required to prove his knowledge and demonstrate his ability the same as the applicant for a driver's license.

Respectfully submitted in the interest of fewer accidents due to carelessness and inexperience in the handling of firearms.

Don Hands, Secretary
Michigan Skeet Association,
Detroit, Mich.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — For some time there has been a running, private debate between the White House and the state department over the all-important question of whether the United States should make a new, dramatic peace overture to Russia.

This dates back even to the days when General George Marshall was secretary of state. Recently, however, with the advent of the hydrogen bomb and Winston Churchill's demand for a meeting with Stalin, the debate has become more acute.

President Truman has long felt and expressed himself in private that if he could sit down with Stalin, they could thresh out a lot of the world's problems. Yet he can't help being irked at Stalin for being aloof, and for ignoring repeated hints that he, Truman, would be glad to talk to him if he came to the United States.

Overriding this, however, is Mr. Truman's mystic sense of his own destiny as a peacemaker. To old friends and members of his staff he speaks of this again and again. During the visits of White House callers he will sometimes walk to the world globe at one side of his desk and say with deep emotion:

"The nearest thing to my heart is to do something to keep the world at peace. We must find a way, or civilization will be destroyed and the world will turn back to the year 900."

Last Christmas the president carried out the same thought when he gave friends a bookmark inscribed: "I would rather have peace in the world than be president, Harry Truman."

MARSHALL SAID NO

This sentiment was behind Truman's move for a conference with Stalin two years ago. The president had remarked to a friend, "If I could just get to talk to Joe Stalin, I think we could stop a lot of this trouble. Stalin is a reasonable man."

Later he worked out with his intimate adviser, David Noyes, and Chief Justice Fred Vinson the idea of sending the chief justice to Moscow for a talk with Stalin. When this got back to the state department, it was immediately transmitted by acting Secretary Robert Lovett to General Marshall, then attending the U. N. assembly meeting in Paris. Alarmed, Marshall flew home for a quick two-day conference, during which Truman agreed not to make any peace move until it was cleared with our western allies or until Russia gave some tangible sign that it wanted peace.

JERRY MR. TRUMAN

In the last few weeks, the presidential restlessness for a peace conference has been evident again. A shrewd diviner of public opinion, Mr. Truman understands the American public's desire for one more talk with Russia before going full tilt into a hydrogen arms race.

Yet many of his advisers were disappointed when he rushed out an abrupt press release telling the world that the United States would make the hydrogen bomb. They felt that he missed a great opportunity for a world-wide radio broadcast reviewing this country's many moves for peace, a broadcast that would put the onus for the arms race where it belongs—directly on the Russian doorstep.

The state department was also upset when Mr. Truman hurriedly granted an interview with New York Times correspondent, Arthur Krock, after Krock shrewdly cornered him at a dinner party given by Sen. Brian McMahon of Connecticut. This president, in festive mood, definitely promised Krock the interview, and kept his word immediately thereafter, despite a previous promise to Secretary Acheson that he would make no public statements on foreign policy without state department clearance.

While the state department isn't going to admit this publicly, what it objects to in regard to current White House peace thinking, are two things:

1. The jerky unexpectedness of Mr. Truman's ideas. There is no continuity. The president can be bawling out Stalin one day, as he did to the amazement of Winston Churchill and Jimmie Byrnes at the Potsdam conference. And later he can be telling friends that Joe Stalin is a man who would be reasonable if you could only sit down with him at the same table.

2. The Russians, in contrast, have a fixed, firm continuous policy—namely, to break the democratic systems of the free world. And while they may bend this policy ever so slightly, they have not and apparently will not break it, merely because of a peace conference or at the behest of any democratic president, prime minister or potentate. They will attend peace conferences, and they will make magnificent speeches about warmongers in the rest of the world. But they will always sabotage that conference.

TROUBLE INSIDE RUSSIA

These are the state department's ideas; and most diplomats and diplomatic observers believe these ideas are correct.

The inescapable fact is that the 14 men in the Politburo, who really makes Soviet policy, are not going to change, no matter what Truman or anyone else in the U. S. A. says or does. The only thing that will change the mis major force at home or major force abroad.

As previously pointed out in these columns, all is not well either inside the satellite countries or inside Russia itself. There has been virtual revolt in Bulgaria, with sections of the army deserting; and there has been seething unrest in Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Unquestionably this is behind the crackdowns against the American legation and Robert Vegeler. The Russians don't want us to know what is happening in these areas.

They fear that we will use the present restlessness of Soviet peoples to start a major drive to win them over to the free world. But they don't know how unimaginative and moribund we have become.

What they fear could be done only by some of the most skillful planning for total diplomacy this country has ever seen.

Herbert Heads M. S. C. Conservation Division

Conservation has stepped into a major role at Michigan State College, according to President John Hannah. The state board of agriculture, the governing board of the college, has authorized the organization of a division of conservation because of the growing importance of the conservation of our natural resources to the well-being of Michigan and the nation.

The president also announced that Professor Paul A. Herbert, head of the department of forestry since 1931 and on the staff of the college since 1922, has been named as the director of the new division. Herbert will direct four departments consisting of the conservation institute, fisheries and wildlife, forestry, and wood utilization.

Long Active in Field

Ernest L. Anthony, Dean of the M. S. C. School of Agriculture, said the reorganization will permit more concentrated efforts in extension, teaching and research in water and soil conservation, rural land planning and zoning, conservation.

"While the college has always been active in conservation, beginning with teaching and research in forestry over fifty years ago," states Professor Herbert, "the new division of conservation will bring all of the conservation activities into one unit and insure that all phases of the subject will receive proper and adequate attention. Michigan State now has the opportunity to lead the nation in a comprehensive attack on the many conservation problems facing the state and the nation."

"The new department of fisheries and wildlife will take over the functions in this field previously carried on by the forestry and zoology departments. The staff of this department will consist of specialists in both wildlife and the habitat in which the fish and game are found. Proper emphasis will be placed in teaching and research to increase the productivity of our land and water to produce more fish and game. Students will be trained to be specialists on fish or game habitat management."

"The conservation institute, previously simply a coordinating unit, will offer a series of courses to train men and women for positions in conservation education, soil and water conservation, rural planning, tourist and resort industry, and park management."

"The department of forestry, now the largest department of forestry in the country, will be reduced to a more efficient unit by limiting its work to the growing of forest and shade trees and the multiple use management of forests and other wild land."

Wood Utilization
"A new department designated as the wood utilization department will take over and expand the work in the utilization, fabrication and marketing of forest products. It will contain two curricula—Technology and Utilization, and light construction and lumber merchandising."

The new director of the conservation division brings to his position a lifetime of varied conservation activities. While at Cornell University, Herbert specialized in forestry and economics and took all of the wildlife courses then offered. His thesis for the Ph. D. degree was a study of the Ogemaw County. He was a member of the first Michigan State Planning Commission and was one of the leading supporters before the legislature of the rural zoning enabling Act.

In the wildlife field, Herbert is well known as a former president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and as a director of the National Wildlife Federation. He was editor of "Michigan Out-Of-Doors" and is a charter member of the Wildlife Society. Under his jurisdiction, Augusta Creek, running through the W. K. Kellogg Forest, has become the most productive trout stream of its size, where 15 years ago a complete seining of the stream produced no legal sized trout.

After being discharged from the Army, Herbert began his third term as president of the Michigan United Conservation clubs, at which time he made that organization tion's number one project the control of water pollution. This project has remained the principal undertaking of the M. U. C. C. since that time. Herbert also has been a strong supporter for conservation education in Michigan's schools contending that all teachers should have a course in conservation.

Huge New York Apartment Built By Boy Wonder

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—There are two unusual things about Herbert Fischbach.

He is one of the few men in America who collect silver corner-stone-laying trowels. And he is the only man in America who is building what he calls "the largest single unit apartment house in the world."

At 31 Fischbach is the current boy wonder of Manhattan real estate.

He is supervising the erection of a $12,000,000 massive, luxury-type apartment building for 651 families on a Riverside Drive site where only one family used to live. But the family was that of late Charles Schwab, the steel Titan.

The new building will replace the elegant 75-room stone chateau built by Schwab at the peak of his wealth and once known as "the finest home in the United States." Schwab poured from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 in it, and died insolvent. An odd fact about the chateau: Its refrigerator could hold 25 tons of meat, but Schwab in his last years ate only a boiled egg for dinner.

"Steel started going up for the building last week, and it'll be finished by Nov. 1," said Fischbach. "But already it is 70 per cent rented."

The apartments have about everything the wife of a city slicker might ask: Automatic waste-disposal units, electric dishwashers, fireproof paint, big closets with built-in drawer space, and maid, valet, catering and shopping services.

Apartment rent from $1,200 a year for a two-room unit to $3,600 for a super-duper penthouse.

But Fischbach feels the market for suites in this price range is far from glutted. He hopes to build more.

JOSIAH'S MILL

Josiah Harder was a practical business man—almost two centuries ago. So he built his mill down by the stream.

Josiah's Mill would have been closer to his customers if he had built it along the turnpike, or at the main cross-roads.

But Josiah built down by the stream... and the stream turned the wheel of his mill.

BUILD WHERE THE POWER IS!
That was the secret of Josiah's success.

But it's really no secret. For centuries our Churches have been teaching men to build their lives close to God, the Source of All Power. The force of Christian truth, when it flows into our lives, crowns the honest industry of men with joy and success.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

King Business Is Not What It Used To Be

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—I been sitting here trying to work up some emotional sweat about poor King Leopold and his troubles over his pretty commoner bride, and nothing much comes of it.

This is not good, because I was raised to regard kings as powerful people, unlike the civilian herds who pay the kings' haberdashery bills, and it saddens me that I suddenly find it impossible to take kings seriously.

The king business and the Old Gray Mare run a dead heat in the ain't - what - it - used - to - be league. When you can take a king and push him around as they are doing to the African boy Seretse Khama, or beat up on a king emperor like the Italians did to poor old Haile Selassie, or run 'em off their own real estate like they did to Carol and Peter and the rest, the king business seems about bankrupt. It looks like the boys are going to have to tackle a new line of work.

We are just not emotionally or constitutionally attuned to the king racket these days. Royalty argues against the equality of man, in deepest principle, and we are taught now that everybody is as good as everybody else. It is hard to maintain a regal dignity when all hands feel free to step up and call you Joe and tickle the queen when your back's turned.

Kings were He-Men. A king used to be a fellow who said things like "off with his head!" or "fetch me yon comely maiden that I may take her to the palace" or "let's boil this bloke in oil" or "hand me my shooting pants. I feel a crusade coming on."

The current crop can't open their mouths for fear of annoying some surly political boss. They can't even marry the dames they love without turning in their king suit. They slink around odd corners of the world like black marketers, living off pawn of smuggled jewels, playing a little golf for the drinks and shooting a few craps at the Casino. They moan about the good old days when kings had stature, and are as bored as can be.

I have known a fair flock of royalty, including Carol, two canibal chieftains with human shinbones in their noses, Princess Elizabeth's loving husband and once I was even related by divorce to some very high-ranking royalty. A cousin of mine married the divorced wife of the late Count of Covadonga, King Alphonso's heir to the Spanish throne. Nothing much came of him because he bled easily and when he ran into a tree in Miami he died.

All the kings I ever met looked awful bored with scepter-waving, especially in absentia. Two I have met quit the profession—the Duke of Windsor and his highness Moulay Mohammed, the Khalifa of Morocco and Allah's top representative for that neighborhood.

Old Muley, as he was known in the barrooms of Madrid and Tangier, was a little round man who looked like Fats Waller. He loved to laugh and get drunk and do the rumba, and he had a terrible reputation with the girls. He gave his business to his kid brother, with all its celestial overtones, because he couldn't see any future in it.

Moulay Mohammed loved to drink Scotch and tear up the check when the waiter brought it. Then he would bust the plate over the waiter's head and whiz off to a new night spot. He drove his car at 90 miles an hour through city streets. He regarded pretty girls as something considerably more important than a melody, which is not to say he was unmusical.

His highness had one song, called "La Ultima Noche," which is fairly sexy if you know Spanish, and he would sing it sometimes for two or three hours. This was hard on the nightclubs, because Muley ran everybody off the dance floor and made the band play it over and over again.

These pleasant pursuits were frowned on topside, so Moulay resigned.

"I like to have fun, Roberto," he told me. Being caliph is no fun. My little brother fits the job better than I do. Now now let's go do a rumba."

This sort of intimacy with royalty kills their glamour. I have wasted all this time trying to make a case for kings, and all we come to is that—in poker—two of them back to back will still beat a pair of queens.

Gunners Plan 1950 Program

Seek Small Building For Target House

The Gladstone Rifle and Pistol club is now preparing for the 1950 season.

Renovation of the range house is planned. It is to be painted on the exterior and the interior lined with wallboard.

The range proper will be 'dressed up' and a number of other improvements made. New frames for targets are now being manufactured. These are designed to accommodate silhouettes.

A small building is being sought by the club for use as a target house. This would be placed close to the backstop and would allow handy storing of targets and range equipment. At present it is necessary to carry targets and equipment the length of the range, 100 yards, to point of erection.

Anyone having a small building, tool shed, woodshed or garage which they will donate to the club, is requested to advise Chief of Police Torval Kallerson or Fire Chief Carl Johnson.

A number of inter-city shoots, both pistol and rifle, are being arranged. Recently, Menominee riflemen challenged the Gladstone shooters to a small-bore contest.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;

Wednesday, March 22, will be "Dairy Day" in the Manistique area activities centering about the Manistique township hall, with a group of extension dairy specialists on hand to discuss problems and provide interesting and useful information relative to the industry.

Movies will start the meeting which begins at 10 o'clock in the morning. Lunch, at a nominal cost will be served in the hall. Hayes will start off the afternoon program with a discussion of "Some Mistakes My Neighbor Makes." Other talks and discussions will follow and movies will wind up the afternoon. The program will be over about 3:30 o'clock.

Lenten Services Favored With Very Good Attendance

With the attendance approximately 60 per cent over that of the last Lenten community series held in Manistique, the Ministerial Association conducted the fourth in the current community services during Lent. The Rev. Harold Martinson, pastor of the Bethel Baptist church, speaking on the subject, "Friend Wherefore Art Thou Come?" brought his message in the First Baptist church on Thursday night, March 16. Following the theme of "Questions of the Passion," Mr. Martinson appropriately challenged the congregation to their responsibility as Christians in this modern world.

The order of service was arranged by the pastor of the host church, the Rev. William Schobert and included participation by other ministers of Manistique. Mrs. R. Eisenbraut inspired all with a lovely vocal solo and directed the anthem by the church choir at a later time during the services.

Two more Community services are planned for preceding the Maundy-Communion services in each of the Protestant churches, the next one being in the Free Methodist church. The Rev. Harold Fleck, district superintendent of the Free Methodist conference, will speak in the Free Methodist church. His subject: "What Is That To Us?" This service will be held on Thursday night, March 23 at 8:30 p. m.

Church Services

Presbyterian (Woods Community)—Worship service, 3 p. m.—Rev. Paul Sobel, pastor.

Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ L. D. S. (Gulliver)—Church school, 10 a. m. Worship service, 11 a. m.

Social

Mrs. Norman Martin won high in Canasta. Party arrangements were made by Mrs. Emmet McNamara and Mrs. Victor Schuster.

Guncotton is usually made by treating cotton linters with a mixture of nitric and sulfuric acids.

SKI PRINCESS—Ski jumping is usually regarded as being a bit arduous a sport for little girls, but to Barbara Gentz, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gentz, 539 Cherry street, its "lots of fun." Barbara competed with boys of her own age in last Sunday's Junior Ski Hop and placed second. The longest jump in that division was 35 feet and Barbara's jump was 25 feet. But she had the best skiing form of the bunch. (Photo by Linderoth)

Three UP Teams Face Tough Opposition In East Lansing Tonight

By JOHN F. MAYHEW
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Kalamazoo Central's Class A defending champions tangle with Saginaw's strong defense here tonight as Michigan's finest prep basketball talent goes into action.

At stake are eight semi-final berths in the annual high school basketball tournament.

Four teams in each class—the survivors of a starting field of more than 600 schoolboy quintets—provide the action as the big scramble goes into the home stretch.

In the headline bout, scheduled at Michigan State College's Jensen field house, the well-balanced Maroons of Kalamazoo Central will be facing no mean threat in the number three club from the powerful Saginaw Valley conference.

Willie Pep Out For Quick KO Over Famechon

By MURRAY ROSE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—Leatherweight champion Willie Pep will be gunning for a quick knockout tonight when he risks his featherweight crown against Ray Famechon, the "unknown" French challenger in a 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden.

Reports have reached the champion's camp that the Frenchman has been holding out in his public workouts and has been practicing on the sly, away from the prying eyes of newsmen and Pep scouts.

Not too much is known about the European featherweight king, who makes his U. S. debut in a blue chip bout.

Willie Willie, however, is in his greatest shape since he injured his back in a plane crash three years ago.

"I'll be shooting for a knock-out," said Willie. "But if I have to go 15 rounds, I'll be ready to go all out at the distance."

The bookmakers, aware of Pep's dazzling workouts in Hartford, have established Willie the Wisp as a stand-out 5 to 18 favorite. It's even money that the Hartford Hurricane will stop the invader before the limit.

Despite the big odds against the challenger, a crowd of more than 15,000, including thousands of Pep's loyal legions from Connecticut, is expected to turn out for Willie's third title defense within six months.

Thousands more will watch the bout via television over the N. B. C. network. The scrap, which will start at 10 p. m. (EST), also will be broadcast over the A. B. C. system.

Famechon has not been stopped or floored in 60 pro starts against Europe's best. He has won 57 of 60 contests and has scored 21 knockouts.

Famechon is confident he can spring the upset and capture the world 126-pound crown. "Count on me," he declared, "I didn't come from France just for the journey and the lost money. I am determined to win."

Grade School Teams Practice Saturday

Grade school basketball teams will play league games from nine to 12 Saturday at the junior high school gymnasium. From one to 2:30 o'clock, there will be practice for teams that will appear Wednesday night.

Drawings will be held for the junior basketball tournament in both leagues Saturday morning. All team managers must be on hand.

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—The lineup of the New York Yankees is beginning to look more like the one that won the world championship last year.

Catcher Yogi Berra, late signing up for 1950, is back behind the plate and the team's regular second-base combination, Phil Rizzuto and Gerry Coleman, worked together yesterday for the first time this season as the Yanks walked Washington, 13-2.

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—Lefty Mel Parnell, the Boston Red Sox's 25-game winner a year ago, and veteran Joe Dobson were named by Manager Joe McCarthy to face the Boston Braves in the opener of the five-game "city series" today at Payne field. A back injury is expected to keep third baseman Johnny Pesky sidelined.

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—Manager Luke Sewell took a good look at his Cincinnati rookie crew yesterday under game-time conditions and

Grand Rapids Godwin is the key team in Class B, here it meets Rochester's Falcons in the headline match.

Godwin, another unbeaten quintet, with 19 scalps on its belt, presents a tough challenge to the good Rochester field that has won 20 of 21 tilts.

Art Spoelstra, six-foot, seven-inch center, who drops 'em in at well over the 20-point a game mark, provides the chief momentum for the favored Godwin team.

Gladstone Dark Horse

St. Joseph's Bears, runners-up in the rugged Twin Valley league, meets the Upper Peninsula's pride, Ishpeming, in the other "B" bracket, assuring two top-notch contests.

The Class C fight shapes up like a three-way affair between Detroit St. Andrew, East Grand Rapids and Saginaw SS. Peter and Paul, with Gladstone, Upper Michigan delegate, given an outside chance.

The Saginaw Tri-County delegate has lost but two games in 22 and guarantees a man-sized fight.

East Grand Rapids, runner-up in the Grand Valley league, is rated a stout favorite over Gladstone, which squeaked by Boyne City, 43-40, for the semi-final berth.

The Class D tourney is wide-open with Bath, Fowler, Brimley and Benton Harbor St. John all given the golden title chance.

All moved into the semi-finals

ANAHEIM, Calif.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs appear to be the "hitless wonders" of the 1950 baseball exhibition circuit.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox Bob Cain and Bill Pierce, a pair of young south-paw pitchers, showed top form in holding the Cleveland Indians scoreless for seven innings yesterday. The Sox lost, 5-4, in 11 innings.

Bath moved up by upsetting Dearborn Edison Institute 50-41 in the quarter-finals, smashing the hopes of one of the top-rated Class D quintets in Michigan.

Class A games are scheduled on the main floor of Michigan State College's Jensen field house. Class B games will be played at Lansing Sexton high school; Class C at the field house gym and Class D at Lansing Boy's Vocational school.

The finals will be held Saturday on the main floor at Jensen field house, with Classes B and D playing in the afternoon and A and C in the evening.

Bradley Still No. 1 Basketball Squad In U. S. A.

By MILO FARNETI
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—Bradley's dashing Braves still stand today as the country's No. 1 basketball five and potential winner of college basketball's two major championships—the N. I. T. and NCAA.

The versatile Midwest quintet meets CCNY for the national invitation tournament title Saturday night. Next week the Braves try for the NCAA championship, either half of basketball's grand slam.

Topseeded Bradley raced by St. John's of Brooklyn last night, 83-72, to advance to the weekend NIT finale. There the Braves have to contend with an upstart CCNY sophomore team that is the sensation of the tournament.

Unseeded and unranked in the final Associated Press poll, City College walloped defending champion San Francisco and Kentucky, then defeated Duquesne in last night's semi-final, 62-52.

Off last night's performance, the smoother Bradley five looks four or five points better than CCNY. But City, which ended its regular season with a fair 17-5 record, now is playing much better than at any time this season.

CCNY's four sophomores and a senior have used a fast break and accurate shooting to demoralize tournament opponents.

Coach Forrest Anderson has a dozen good boys to throw at City College. In last night's victory over St. John's, Anderson substituted freely—even replacing all American Paul Unruh—without hurting his team.

St. John's will meet Duquesne for third place in the 8 p. m. (EST) curtain raiser on Saturday.

Babe Snatches Lead Of 3 Strokes In Women's Golf Round

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP)—Thirty-six champions hoped today the weather would heat up and Babe Zaharias would cool down in the second round of the Titleholders Golf Tournament.

The Babe had a comforting three-stroke lead over the titleholders' field at the start of the second of four rounds of medal golf. She shot a finely fashioned par 72 yesterday while spring winds whipped the Augusta Country Club course and spongy fairways cut down on driving distances.

Claire Doran of Cleveland had the best chance today of closing in on the Babe. Miss Doran shot a woman's par 75 yesterday. Helen Sigel of Philadelphia and Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., got 77's.

Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, scored a 78 to lead a three-way tie at 79. The girls with 79's were Mary Lena Faulk of Thomaston, Ga., National Open champ Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., and Marlene Bauer of Midland, Texas.

With the exception of the Babe and Louise Suggs, other former titleholder champions had little to be proud of. Patty Berg of Minneapolis, the only four times winner, had 82 which was matched by defending champion Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio. Dot Kirby of Atlanta was a notch better with an 81.

Two Michigan golfers, Shirley Spork and Mary Agnes Wall, both turned in 82 cards in the first round of the Titleholders Golf Tournament here.

Miss Spork, of Detroit, made her total on rounds of 43 and 39. Miss Wall, of Menominee, had a couple of 41 rounds.

Sentinels Outplay Eveleth, 10 and 6; Head For Calumet

MARQUETTE, Mich., (AP)—Marquette's rampaging Sentinels, champions of the Northern Lakes Hockey league, headed for Calumet today with intention of making it two straight over the Eveleth (Minn.) Rangers and the right to meet the winner of the Eastern Amateur Hockey league in the semi-finals of the Amateur Hockey association playoffs.

The Sentinels outplayed the Minnesota sextet for a 10-6 victory before 1,106 fans in the Palestra here last night. Except for an Eveleth goal in the first 30 seconds of play, they were in command all the way—leading 3-1 at the end of the first period, 6-4 at the end of the second and coasting in with a four-goal barrage in the final session.

Nine players figured in Marquette's scoring, with wings Ruben Parske, Julian Van Overloop and Owen O'Brien collecting two apiece.

Sam Lo Presti, former Chicago Black Hawk player in the net for Eveleth, was credited with 26 saves, while Goalie "Bud" Sivoen, of Marquette, had only 19 stops.

If Eveleth wins tonight's game in Calumet, a third contest will be played in Marquette Saturday night.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—The lower house of the New York state legislature has passed a bill forbidding morning-afternoon or afternoon-night baseball bills with separate admission charges.

Carried to extremes, this two-for-one idea would require all movies to be double features, basketball double-headers, fights double-windups and maybe that all winning race horses should pay at least 2 to 1. . . . And Coach Stan Woodward of the N. Y. Compass suggests a "second drink on the house" bill, too. . . . Before he gets into the ring for tonight's scrap with Ray Famecho, featherweight champ Willie Pep probably will qualify as the world's most-examined fighter.

There was a preliminary examination; another before he received a New York license; a third at the weigh-in and a quick checkup just before entering the ring. . . . And after signing for the bout his cautious manager, Lou Cicci, decided he should have his own head examined for taking on a fighter he hadn't scouted.

A Heck of a Note

When the Chicago Cardinals signed (not drafted) a speedy back named James Gus Kalas from St. Olaf college in Minnesota, tub-thumper Eddie McGuire sent him the usual personal questionnaire. . . . One question was "do you play a musical instrument?" . . . James Gus filled the blank space with "tissue paper wrapped around a comb."

One-Minute Sports Page

Davis and Elkins, one of the teams in the NAI basketball tournament, won't have a gym until next season, when the task of erecting a former navy building is completed. Meanwhile the basketballers have to sandwich practice sessions in among assorted other activities in the Elkins, W. Va., high school gym. . . . Joe Carveth, traded to the Detroit Red Wings by the Canadiens early in the season, may play 71 hockey games this winter, more than a club's full schedule. . . . Jim Thorpe starts a new career in Buffalo ten days from now, "managing" an Indian wrestler named War Cloud. . . . The kid had better be good or old.

Big Deal Promoted For Citrus Industry By Elliott Roosevelt
 MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt arrived here Wednesday to confer with Henry Cobbs, citrus processor and gift fruit shipper, on a deal described as "one of the biggest in the history of the Florida citrus industry."

Details were not revealed but it was reported it includes a project for production and nationwide promotion of frozen citrus concentrate and allied products.

Cobbs, who parlayed a Miami jam and jelly business into an international operation, declined to comment on the deal but it was reported he had been negotiating with persons described only as

Buried Bullion Draws Chumps
 By ARTHUR EDSON
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — Buried treasure by the millions is waiting for the taking, but anyone who goes hunting pirate gold is a chump.
 That's the buried billion news today, and it comes from L. Commander K. D. Iain Murray. He's formerly of the British Merchant Marine, and he says he's been checking up on pirate lore ever since he first read "Treasure Island."

Murray told a news conference that it's true pirate gold is there by the bushels for those lucky enough to find it.

On the island of Trinidad in the South Atlantic, for instance, he's pretty sure some $30,000,000 is stacked away. And he's pretty sure, too, that plenty is buried on Cocos Island, off Central America.

Furthermore, he says records are fairly complete of ships that have gone down stuffed to the deck with treasure.

But this stuff is almost impossible to find.

If it's in water, it now is far below the ocean's bottom.

If it's on land, the very terrain may have changed so much that even the maps—if they still exist — no longer are any good.

Murray points out one drawback to modern treasure hunting: there have been no major developments in the science since the invention of the diving bell and the diving suit.

Of modern inventions, he thinks only the mine detector has many possibilities.

"very important people," according to reports.

Traffic Slowed By March Storm

Side Roads Closed In Delta County

Sweeping out of the north at midnight, winds up to 30 and 35 miles an hour whipped snow into drifts across the Upper Peninsula and in Delta county closed side roads and halted school bus operations in three townships.

The March storm, arriving only a few days before the official opening of spring season, delayed wheel traffic with drifts and poor visibility.

Schools were closed today in Bark River, Wells and Garden townships because of the storm.

All main highways in the county and state trunklines in the Upper Peninsula were open to traffic. But motorists were warned that visibility in all sections ranged from fair to poor.

Hardest hit was the Houghton county "snow belt" where up to 12 inches of snow fell since midnight.

Temperatures ranged from between 20 and 25 degrees during the storm period.

Commercial fishing operations were halted on Bay de Noc and Green Bay. Snowplows of both the city and county were out early today to open main roads. In Escanaba, motorists had their cars stuck briefly in drifts on downtown streets.

Detroit And Toledo Shipping Is Early; Range Light Opened

TOLEDO, O.—(AP)—Enough ships are plying between Toledo and Detroit to cause opening of the Maumee Bay range light although the regular shipping season probably will not open until April. Boatswain Ernest Killian, in charge of the Toledo Coast Guard depot, said today.

Arthur G. Bowman, Sandusky, O., yesterday took up residence at the lighthouse, known as the "Crib," to remain through the summer season.

Coal freighters of the Nicholson Transportation Co., and tankers of the Gulf Refining Co. and the Williams Blue Line already are moving between the two ports and other companies are fitting out their vessels with crews.

Jobless Man Shoots Rabbit For Hungry Family; Fined $100

CORCORAN, Calif., (AP)—An unemployed farm laborer, sentenced to 50 days in jail for shooting a cottontail rabbit out of season, is free today on his plea that he did it to provide food for his hungry wife and child.

But Justice of the Peace W. J. Nonhof said Dorris Hays, 26, will have to pay a $100 fine in installments. The judge said he arranged the release after the plight of Hays' family was brought to his attention. Hays pleaded guilty yesterday.

Taxi Driver Robbed By Teen-Aged Girls

NEW YORK — (AP) — Taxi-driver Abraham Feldman felt a knife against his back last night. "This is a stickup . . . give us your money."

Feldman handed over $16 to his two fares.

One of them jumped out, reached through the front window, and yanked out the ignition key. Then both dashed down a dark alley, Feldman pursuing.

They distanced him, and Feldman reported the holdup to a Bronx police station.

He said the two were girls, five-feet or under, and both about 14 years old.

Cafe Patron Picks Robber By His Eyes

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—A convicted robber-kidnaper, trapped by a woman who couldn't forget his eyes, has been sentenced to life in San Quentin prison.

Henry J. Thwaites, 38, Wilmington, Calif., received the term yesterday for the holdup robbery and kidnapping last July of San Pedro cafe owner George Speropoulos, 61. Thwaites' partner, Gordon K. Darcy, 37, was sentenced earlier to life.

Thwaites was arrested when Mrs. Mary Bigler, a patron in the cafe at the time of the holdup, identified his eyes after peering at 22 sets of eyes of known criminals.

The sap of the coconut palm, called toddy, is a favorite drink in many Pacific Islands, according to the National Geographic Society.

Six Prisoners Dead In Mattress Blaze At Spray, N. C., Jail

SPRAY, N. C. — (AP) — Six prisoners—five men and a woman—perished in the Spray jail today after a mattress caught fire. Three were white and three Negroes.

The fire was discovered at 2:40 a. m. by Desk Sgt. P. L. McBride when he went to the second floor of the City Hall building to look up another prisoner.

All of the six who died had been charged with public drunkenness.

Police said there was a possibility that one of the six had deliberately set the fire. The jail was only slightly damaged.

The victims were Lucille Wimbush, 30; Junior Yarborough, 22; and Marion Morrison, 25; all white; and Harvey Cole, 43; Joe W. Willis, 21 and Bonnie Martin, 34; Negroes.

They apparently were asleep when the fire started, and were suffocated.

Missing Ann Arbor Coed Returns Home To Berrien Springs

Berrien Springs, Mich. — (AP) — Dark-haired Jeri Lou Ely is back home where her family wants to "crum her full of food" and help her forget about tough studies for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ely brought their 18-year-old daughter back from Chicago last night.

That was where Jeri Lou was located yesterday after her disappearance from a University of Michigan dormitory Monday night had touched off a widespread hunt.

Leaving Chicago, where she stayed in the women's section of a YMCA hotel, the coed explained to reporters she left school "because I was distraught and overworked in preparation for school examinations."

"I came to Chicago because here I would be close to relatives and friends," she added. "I'm sorry now that I ran away from school at this time."

The girl said she got behind her school studies during three weeks of sorority rushing. She pledged Delta Delta Delta.

Ford Factory Calls Back 27,000 Workers

DETROIT — (AP) — Resuming the stepped-up production abandoned last month because of the coal strike, the Ford Motor Co. will put 27,000 workers back on a six-day week Saturday.

The move will mean an increase of about 30 per cent in the earnings of the affected employees, 12,000 of whom are in Detroit plants.

Henry Ford II announced an increased production schedule early this year, saying he wanted to have the company turning out 5,000 units a day by April 1.

Republican Hour Topic Will Be Public Health

Public health services now available in Michigan will be the topic of discussion at the weekly Republican hour to be held at 2:30 p. m., tomorrow in the Sherman hotel.

Joseph Shipman, U. P. director of the state department of vocational rehabilitation, is organizing the program. John Anthony is chairman of the Republican hour programs.

Last week the meeting was devoted to a discussion of local problems. Mayor Al Phillips, who was to discuss the bridge at Mackinac Straits, was unable to come to Escanaba last Saturday.

Truman Budget Slated For Slash Of Three Billion

fiscal leaders are driving for.

"If we are going to get close to a balanced budget, this bill ought to be around $26,000,000," Rep. Taber (R-NY) told newsmen.

Taber, top Republican on the appropriations group, would not comment on the reported cut of $1,200,000,000 already tentatively made.

Republicans may try to effect more reductions when the bill goes before the full committee.

But some of their strategists believe the place to do the cutting is on the house floor. Their theory is that if any substantial economies are effected in the committee, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) and the Democratic majority will claim the credit.

They also figure that, this being a congressional election year, they can pick up strong backing for amendments to trim the scores of items that make up the bill's totals.

Blanket Slash Suggested
Some Republicans are talking on all items. They believe this would be close to relatives and friends," she added. "I'm sorry now that I ran away from school at this time."

Subject to further committee action, here is how the omnibus measure now stands, say committee sources:

Treasury department: cut from $2,812,000,000 to $2,753,000,000.

Atomic energy commission, Veterans administration and other independent agencies: cut from $8,458,000,000 to $8,024,000,000.

Agriculture department: Cut from $799,000,000 to $764,000,000.

Labor department and federal security agency: Cut from $2,462,000,000 to $2,271,000,000.

Army engineers: Cut from $834,000,000 to $675,000,000.

National defense, including the army, navy and air force: Cut from $13,028,000,000 to $12,839,000,000.

Interior department: Cut from $669,000,000 to $621,000,000.

State, justice and commerce departments: Cut from $1,184,000,000 to $1,110,000,000.

Legislative department: Cut from $65,000,000 to $56,000,000.
